Present Research Interest

Immunology remained throughout my research career as a dear subject. Human diarrheal diseases and ayurvedic herbal drugs are immensely important. Our vast researches further support studies on clinical standardization, reproducibility and credibility of results for global acceptability to these ayurvedic herbal drugs- the futuristic drugs of choice, besides, establishing an exciting discipline - Herbal Immunology. Further, the science of Yoga for empowering immune system and mind-body coordination, serving like molecular medicine, attracted me as complementary approach for better human health and life. Traditional system of healthcare and complementary medicine are exciting research fields for me.
