Subject: Clarification Regarding PG Programme Structure and Eligibility as per NEP 2020

Respected Sir,

Thank you for sharing the final draft of the syllabus for English and AECC. The structure and content appear comprehensive and well-aligned with academic requirements.

As per the NEP 2020 guidelines, the structure of the Postgraduate (PG) programme may follow one of the following formats:

1. 1-Year PG Programme – for students who have completed a 4-Year UG degree with Honors with Research.
2. 2-Year PG Programme – for students with a 3-Year UG degree.
3. Integrated 5-Year PG Programmes – offered by some institutions as a continuous academic track.

The current draft outlines a total of ten semesters, distributed as follows:

- Semesters 1 to 6: Undergraduate (UG)
- Semesters 7 & 8: Honors

- Semesters 9 & 10: Postgraduate (PG)

It is noted in the draft that the eligibility for admission to the Master's Programme in English is a B.A. (Honors) in English.

In light of this, we seek clarification on the following point:

Will it be mandatory for all students to pursue the Honors track in order to be eligible for the Master's programme, or will there be an option for students to complete a 3-Year UG programme and then pursue a 2-Year PG programme, as permitted under NEP 2020?

If the University intends to offer a 2-Year PG programme for students with a 3-Year UG degree, then the current draft would require the inclusion of a separate syllabus for the 2-Year PG programme, which is presently missing.

A clarification in this regard would be appreciated, especially since this concern was also raised by the Ma'am from the Department of Commerce, University of Delhi, during the last meeting.

We request your guidance on this matter so that the syllabus draft can be revised accordingly and in alignment with NEP 2020 norms.
